

Stopovers needed for 'white van men'

Where does white van man park in Tenterden? That was a question posed to town councillors on Monday.

Cllr Sue Ferguson said that there was nowhere for works vans to park other than residential streets if the vehicles were bigger than the parking bays.

She told a meeting of the town council's highways and amenities committee: "Where is white van man to park other than in the side streets?"

Cllr Ferguson suggested there could be somewhere like the French aires, which are stopover areas for caravans, vans and lorries with services provided.

Mayor Cllr Jennifer Crickmore-Porter said that for-eight lorries parked in the High Street overnight and left before the traffic wardens arrived. Councillors agreed to refer the matter to the town parking forum.
